Information for Our Suppliers : Green Procurement

Under our “management philosophy on the environment,” we intend to promote the manufacture of eco-friendly products together with our suppliers. To that end, we created and issued the first edition of Product Environmental Quality Standards for the audio-technica Group to determine substances whose use and/or inclusion is prohibited or controlled according to the trends in society and laws in June 2006 and have since been promoting green procurement.

We request our suppliers to understand our eco-friendly efforts, promote the establishment, maintenance, and improvement of their environmental management system, and reduce the environmental impacts of their purchased parts and materials according to the Product Environmental Quality Standards for the audio-technica Group.

For substances or their uses which are not clarified in these Environmental Quality Standards but whose use is prohibited or restricted by state or regional environmental laws or regulations, we will comply with those laws or regulations.
